

SIS and ERP Systems

Serve your staff and stakeholders with confidence

Both ERP and SIS systems provide enterprise-wide, integrated solutions for back-office administration, as well as student and teacher-facing functionality that school districts need. From budgets, payroll, and staffing, to student achievement, scheduling, and grades, managing district information can be overwhelming at times. Is your system as efficient as it could be? Does it meet demands for improved performance, accessibility, and data analytics?

Save time and money with an optimized system

Whether your current system is reliant on manual entry and paper forms, difficult to access, incapable of providing custom reports, or you have concerns with data integrity or reliability, adoption of modern ERP and SIS solutions can lead to greater decision-making due to better access to data, electronic workflows, and/or self-service. A new or improved system can provide advanced features such as:

Electronic workflows

Mobile solutions for students, staff, administration, & vendors

Real-time data analytics & improved reporting

Extensive self-service

Dashboards

Document management & storage capabilities

How we help

Selecting the right product can be a complicated venture. Our independent and objective technology and K-12 experts will help you filter the noise to make sound decisions, avoid costly mistakes, and ensure expectations are met. We know the K-12 marketplace and vendors' respective strengths and weaknesses, and our relationships translate to better terms and cost savings. We talk you through the often-confusing array of services and features to help you narrow the possibilities. In short, we help you find the best fit.

We've assisted with selections and implementations of all sizes and budgets. We know, firsthand, what works — and what to avoid. We'll help you with:

Functional requirements & technical specifications

Contract negotiations

Implementation management

Process redesign

Change & communications management

Requests for proposals

Pricing & cost analysis

Proposal analysis & due diligence

We'll analyze your needs and the nuances of your district to identify your specific functional requirements. Over the years, we've invested in and refined many robust analytical tools that save countless hours of legwork, research, and stress. Our approach will save you time and mitigate your risk as you make critical decisions about your new administrative system.
